THE AGES OF SENATORS.

Commercial Gazette.—Senator Morgan of Alabama is 69; Senator Teller of Colorado is 68; Senator Hawley of Connecticut is 67 and his colleague, Orville Platt, is 65. The two Georgia Senators are both old timers. Colquitt, a Brigadier in the Southern Army, is 69; Gordon, a Major General in the same service, is 61; Voorhees of Indiana is 60; Allison of Iowa is 61; his colleague, Wilson, is 65; and his junior, Weller, is 62. His long-winded eulogies exasperate his years. Cullom of Illinois is 65; Foye of Maine is 62; Mr. Hoar of Massachusetts is 67. He went to Congress for the first time in 1869. Stockbridge of Michigan is 67; Washburn of Minnesota is 62; George of Mississippi is 67 and Senator Waltrip, his colleague, is 62. West of Missouri is 63; Jones of Nevada is 63 and Stewart, his colleague, is 66. McPherson of New Jersey is 61; Vance of North Carolina is 43 and Ranson, his colleague, is 67. State of Tennessee is 62; Roger Quarles Mills of Texas is 61 and his colleague, Richard Coke, is 64. Proctor of Vermont is 62 and Camden of West Virginia is 65.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 6th, 1863.—The Stockton Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn.—I am sorry to learn that you do not speak of your Antisepsic, and I consider it something wonderful in the way of medicine. My son has been ill for some time past, very sick with pneumonia, complicated with rheumatism, and I have consulted my physician and gave him every attention, but the doctor said that we were no longer able to cure him, and that the only thing to be done was to make him comfortable until the end. A friend of mine recommended the Antisepsic, as it seemed to be performing some miraculous cures. I have given it to my son, and it regularizes his health, and the fever began to decrease from the first dose, and a decided improvement took place every day. In three days he was sitting up and in a week he was out of bed, and in a few days he was in full exercise of his strength very fast. I conscientiously believe it is the old man's life. Reassuringly yours. —F. A. Blake, No. 3 Noel Block.

PUBLIC LEDGER

SECOND YEAR.

MARYSVILLE, KY., MONDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1893.

ONE CENT.

If you have friends visiting you, or if you are going away on a visit, please drop us a note to that effect.

R. H. Ranson of Covington spent yesterday in his city.

Mrs. S. B. Chun and son Pickett are visiting Mrs. McCatee Case of Cincinnati.

Mrs. Dr. Wardrop, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Guy Rogers of Danville, has returned home.

J. C. Newcomer and sons of Ripley were in Marysville yesterday, the guests of his father-in-law, W. B. Mathews.

Mr. Hardin of Missouri has been the guest of Miss Mabel Hord, at the residence of Abner Hord, for several days.

M. S. Dunnitt, after a tour of seven weeks through the Northwest in the interest of the Eagle Refining Co., Cleveland, O., has returned to charge.

Manager Kinneman arrived in the city Friday from Chambersburg, Penn., where he has been in charge of one of his Opera-houses. Acting Manager Baughman will probably be transferred to that charge.

The engagement is announced of Miss Eva Benson, second daughter of S. P. Bridges of the Fifth Ward, to Will E. Mullineux of Springfield, O. Miss Eva is one of Marysville's most beautiful and attractive young ladies, and we must congratulate the young man upon his good choice.

The C. O. & P. passenger business at the station Central will be held up the remainder of the year, according to the estimate of last year—very near double.

For October, 1892, it was $4,819.90, and for October of this year it amounted to $7,280.16. The World's Fair has made the increase.

The boys of Center College are arranging a walking match. They will walk from Danville to Lexington on one night, return to Danville on the next night, and walk from Lexington to the point which rounds out the circuit. He turned it around at the mid-point, so as to be toward the engineer. Along came the Cincinnati and New Orleans limited. She stopped at the station on the 30-mile road, and when the engineer saw the red flag, he was scared so bad his hand shot out end. That fellow ought to have met the train to see which one would get the first job.

A young scamp of Smith's Grove went to Bowling Green and "taxked up" on that city's "finest," and then started home via the L. and N. Railroad track. When a short distance out he turned a curve and saw a train light, which round out the circuit. He turned it around at the mid-point, so as to be toward the engineer. Along came the Cincinnati and New Orleans limited. She stopped at the station on the 30-mile road, and when the engineer saw the red flag, he was scared so bad his hand shot out end. That fellow ought to have met the train to see which one would get the first job.

Owing to a blunder by one of the election clerks at Ashland the city will be represented by four members of the School Board from the Fourth Ward and only one from the county again where it was epidemic one year ago. Two deaths have occurred already, it is said.

The Business Way!

The business way to advertise is to take space by your advertisements in making them attractive, and change them at least as often, as once a month.

You may think there are seasons when you don't need to advertise.

We have never seen that time.

The dull seasons for looking over your stock and running off that which is becoming out of style or unfashionable, and giving bargains.

If you have space by the year, it costs you no more, and you can make it profitable by converting valuable goods into money, and reinvesting the money in those things which are marketable.

CHAIRMAN WILSON feels constrained to introduce his bill for the encouragement of British industry at the earliest possible date.

THE ORATORS for the Republican party in Massachusetts spoke eloquently, but more eloquent still were the factory bells silenced by the dread of Democratic Free-trade.

THE REPEAL of the Sherman Purchasing Act did not blind the voters of Massachusetts and Ohio to the cause of industrial stagnation. Will the Tariff smashers heed the rebuke?

HON. CHAUNCEY M. DEEPWELL in a recent speech in Cooper Institute New York defines Republicanism. The definition is so short, yet so comprehensive, that it should be committed to memory:

"Republicanism stands for liberty; Republicanism stands for honest elections; Republicanism stands for an honest judiciary; Republicanism stands for protection to American industries; Republicanism stands for the American home."

NO MAN is fit to vote, we care not whether he be white or black, who cannot read and understand what he reads. The reason political life is so full of rotteness is because the politicians we call bosses manipulate the herd of ignorant voters, and we hear the cry from the very same set that the elections are not fair, that men sell their votes. In these days of free public schools and cheap literature we can come to but one conclusion—that ignorance is a crime. Who will say it isn't?

MORMON LEGENDS.

Singular Instances of Providential Preservation.

How the Latter Day Saints Were Saved from Crickets by Sea Gulls and from Grasshoppers by Xmas.

The announcement that legions of black crickets an inch in length had invaded the vicinity of Los Angeles, and were threatening the country, recollects the experience of the Mormons in the Salt Lake valley in the summer of 1848, says the Dubuque Telegraph. In the spring of that year, the second of the Mormon advent, many insects devoured the crops, and many migration ditches dug, and there was bright promise of abundant crops. But in June crickets similar to those now devastating Wyoming descended in clouds from the mountains and began to eat everything green. The people could do nothing to prevent the destruction, and as they were more than a thousand miles from civilization and without railroads and the total annihilation of roads, and the total annihilation of the crops was inevitable, they rapidly shifted into a state of hopeless despair. Starvation stared them in the face, all were anticipating a most horrible death, and despondency was profound and general, when suddenly and most miraculously relief came. Immense flocks of sea gulls descended upon the air from Great Salt lake, and swooping down upon the crickets, devoured them, and thus saved enough of the crops to tide the Mormons over to the next season. It is a legend of the Mormons that they have not been never seen in the valley before, and they infer from this, and firmly believe, that the appearance of the birds just at the time their assistance was needed to prevent the wholesale extinction of human life was a divine interposition of Providence in behalf of the Mormons.

The latter have yet another and equally as interesting a legend. In 1855 such of the crops as were not destroyed by drought were eaten by grasshoppers. Many grain and food was scarce so scarce that dozens of families did not have bread for months at a time. The period was one of famine. Opportunity, when it was most imperative, was not available, for the supply of potatoes, appeared. It never had been seen before and it never has been since. Like the manna vouchsafed to the children of Israel in the desert, it was found in abundance, and being sweet and nutritious, it satisfied life and strength till the plentiful harvest of the succeeding year rendered it needless. Then it vanished. This, like the blessed coming of the sea gulls, is also regarded by devout Mormons as a special and remarkable manifestation of divine power.

Not one of the yams remains in Salt Lake. If any are there the writer was unable to find them. But sea gulls are plentiful. They do not confine themselves to the islands of the lake or to the inviting beaches, but distribute themselves all over the wonderfully fertile valley. They congregate in greatest numbers around the plowmen. As he turns his scythe, gathering the grain, as the worm is most detectable article of bird food the birds and the plowmen are inseparable companions. They perch on his shoulders and head, plant themselves on his feet, flap their wings in his face and are on terms of familiarity with him. Yet is the Mormon farmer never annoyed. He recalls what the gulls did for his people in their time of deepest distress, and gratitude makes him tender. He would not injure the birds. He would not injure the birds, and as the worm is most detectable article of bird food the birds and the plowmen are inseparable companions. They perch on his shoulders and head, plant themselves on his feet, flap their wings in his face and are on terms of familiarity with him.

ACCIDENTAL DEATHS.

Caused by Carelessness.

The majority of people die sooner than they should. Evidence of this fact is given daily. Seeing signs of carelessness is a consequence of life; it leads to unnatural conditions of living—neglect, abuse, want." Dr. Stephen Smith, on the same subject, "Man is born to live, and long life to die; death is not a natural condition of life; death, disease, and premature old age, is accidental, and both are preventable by human agency." This is almost invariably true of death resulting from carelessness. Careless over-exposure, inappropriate use of tea, coffee, tobacco, alcohol or other stimulants are generally the causes of this difficulty, and indifference to its presence results in sudden death. In long life results in death, the number it can be seen that many prominent and hundreds of persons in private life die from heart disease every year.

If one of the following symptoms occurs: shortness of breath, palpitation, irregular pulse, fainting and smothering spells, pain in shoulder, side, or arm, swelling in neck, etc., begin treatment immediately for heart disease. If you delay, the consequences may be serious.

For over 20 years Dr. Franklin Miles, the eminent physician, has made a practical study of heart disease, its cause and cure, and many of the leading dealers in that direction are due to him. His New Heart Cure is absolutely the only reliable remedy for the cure of heart disease ever provided by those means of testimonials from grateful persons who have used it.

James A. Pain, editor of the Courier Journal, states that he has recovered from three months of a grippe, I fell on the street unconscious, and was unable to walk across my room, and my pulse was 120. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and it once became stronger. After using six bottles it was reduced to 80. It is now 100. On Oct. 1st, my pulse ranging from 85 to 100. Dr. Miles' remedy is not only a preventive, but a cure.

The New Heart Cure is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or by Dr. Miles himself. Price $1.00 per bottle, $1.50 per bottle, $5.00 express prepaid. It is positively guaranteed to cure heart disease. Free book of druggists, by mail.

RED-HOT TALK.

Hon. J. L. Stevens' Reply to Secretary of State Gresham.

The Ex-Minister Tells the Story of the Hawaiian Queen's Overthrow.

Ex-Charge the Secretary of State With Cruelty, Not Only to the Living, But to the Dead—Queen Li herself inaugurated the Revolution.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 13.—Hon. J. L. Stevens, late minister to Hawaii, will be giving reply to Gresham's announcement.

According to the announcement, a public crime of startling importance is about to be committed, under the authority of the American government. A provisionally less important, but in its moral type similar to the stifling of nation with life and the reform aspirations of Poland and Hungary, a few years ago, by the imperial despots and their French supporters, was the perfusion of Rome by the usurped powers of Louis Napoleon. All that American piety, American benevolence, American schools and American patriotism have accomplished in Hawaii in the past seventy years are now certain to be destroyed by a government honest and able, and stand in its support. It is a government honestly and ably administered, and the best government that Hawaii ever had. I know not the influences which induced Secretary Gresham to become an active agent in attempting such an offense against civilization, justice and law, law.

His hostility to ex-President Harrison and to the illustrious ex-secretary who planned the overthrow of James K. Polk is well known, which caused him to betray and desert the great political party whose honors he had shared and brought to his present attitude and their work. The far reaching effects of his action on Hawaiian affairs casts reflection upon my official action. I care little, except to the degree that his cruel and untruthful words strike at the noble hand of men who would have fought for me, if I had been devotedly and entirely in defense of American civilization. The remarks made by me before the chamber of commerce in San Francisco on June 1 and before the citizens of Augusta, published in the Kennebec Journal, are answers to most of the unjust imputations of my unofficial action.

Perhaps nothing better shows the character of the secretary's assault than what he says about the hall which he claims were few and until quarter quarters could be secured.

After I had made my request to Capt. Witzt to land his men as a precautionary safeguard to American life and property, he and his officers informed me that the hall which I wanted for the trial without special information in that regard I had supposed that the ship's marines had tents of their own for their temporary use in case of emergency on shore. I wrote a note and sent it by messenger to secure a large hall which I could not find available.

The man in charge of the hall was several miles away and I had not known of the existence of the Arion hall until that evening when a messenger with my note was sent to the sheriff. The trial was adjourned until the person receiving the same is liable to indictment; it is a revelation and has created considerable excitement, as it proves that the bribery law is a complete surprise.

The authorities have information that the revolutionists have no permanent base of operations from Palermo and are about six hundred strong, while other small parties are continually joining them from the mountains to the south and west. The fighting force at Juarez Sunday night consisted of three cavalry companies, two companies of foot guards and something over three hundred deputy policemen, all under the command of Col. Zuberski, of the eleventh regiment of cavalry.

Supporters dare to resist the organization of the new government, but do not do so during Sunday and Monday, the 15th and 16th, while the citizens were attending the mass meetings. They did not dare to attempt to arrest or interfere with the arrests which occurred. It was a armed and irregular movement of the same men, with now increased numbers, that took away the despotic power of King Kalakaua in 1887 and crushed the Wilcox revolt in 1889.

They gathered at the armory with arms in hand which were increased by other arms openly carried from a gun store, with only three men in charge. The only government that existed or could exist was the provisional government. Whoever denies this is a traitor to the country. The purloined affidavits, hundreds of which are obtainable in Honolulu. An effort was made to damage my recognition of the provisional government by a dispute as to the date of the clock with which I gave recognition.

This is not of essential importance, for in fact all resistance to the formation of a new government practically ceased more than two days before. The commissioners of the provisional government constitute the only Hawaiian government existing for twenty-four hours previous to my recognition, the monarchial government having completely collapsed several days before; all efforts to crush out the supporters of Hawaiian provisional government will stand out in relief of America's shame.

JOHN L. STEVENS.

MEXICAN REVOLUTION.

City of Juarez Excited, Fearing an Attack
—The Insurrection Movement Growing.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 13.—The city of Juarez, Mexico, is in a general state of alarm. The military and civil authorities are busily engaged arming the citizens with all the weapons obtainable. The cause of the excitement is due to information received by the military commander of the frontier garrisons that the revolutionists, particularly the town house, will be attacked Sunday night by the revolutionists, a detachment of whom captured the custom house at Las Palomas, twenty miles west here. Thursday.

The revolutionists are termed, several days since issued a proclamation against the Mexican government and distributed it along the border to the south. This fact became known to the government, but when the attack came on Saturday night, the attack and capture of the custom house at Las Palomas, was a complete surprise.

The authorities have information that the revolutionists have no permanent base of operations from Palermo and are about six hundred strong, while other small parties are continually joining them from the mountains to the south and west. The fighting force at Juarez Sunday night consisted of three cavalry companies, two companies of foot guards and something over three hundred deputy policemen, all under the command of Col. Zuberski, of the eleventh regiment of cavalry.

A REVELATION.

You Can Give a Bribe But Can Not Take
One in West Virginia.

CHARLESBURG, W. Va., Nov. 13.—Judge Borenman's decision in the Wirt county court "that there is no law against a bribe" is a farce, and a farce of a farce, until quarter quarters could be secured.

After I had made my request to Capt. Witzt to land his men as a precautionary safeguard to American life and property, he and his officers informed me that the hall which I wanted for the trial without special information in that regard I had supposed that the ship's marines had tents of their own for their temporary use in case of emergency on shore. I wrote a note and sent it by messenger to secure a large hall which I could not find available.

The man in charge of the hall was several miles away and I had not known of the existence of the Arion hall until that evening when a messenger with my note was sent to the sheriff. The trial was adjourned until the person receiving the same is liable to indictment; it is a revelation and has created considerable excitement, as it proves that the bribery law is very loosely drawn.

The case of the bribe here this is clear. In the indictment of R. B. Graham, of Elizabeth Wirt county, who was charged with conveying certain real estate to about twenty different persons on condition that they would vote for Stephen Merrill for mayor and for George Clegg for city clerk.

Stephen Merrill was Seiffert for the city council. The indictment was found under section 8, chapter 5 of the code, and decided was made on a motion by the defendant's attorney, making the same void.

Judge Borenman held that while the indictment was in good form the section under which it was drawn did not make it an offense to give a bribe, although it did make it an offense to receive one.

He added that he would not sustain the motion.

He added that there was a cause omission in the law in not providing a punishment for the briber as well as the ones bribed. Judge Borenman is one of the most careful, painstaking judges in the state, and a decision from him carries great weight.

QUEEN LIOKOLAKANI inaugurated the revolution by attempting to destroy the legislature by revolutionary means. From Saturday afternoon, January 14, to Sunday, Jan. 15, there was a general meeting in Honolulu, largely of the self-preserved citizens who assembled in a great mass-meeting the 15th, which was promptly acknowledged by all the foreign representatives.

Queen Liokolakani and her favorites had destroyed her throne by a revolutionary outbreak, while the men of Boston landed. In the exciting hours that followed, her fall, her representations, as well as those whom formed the provisional government had equal access to the legislature.

To all proper inquiries my answer is that the Queen died in a long illness, and was buried in a simple casket.
